Abstract (en)

[origin: US2007289140A1] Pliers for cutting plastic tubes includes a first lever with grooves having different widths for receiving tubes of corresponding diameters, and a second lever holding a blade. The levers are pivotally arranged with respect to each other around a pivot axis. The first lever includes a wheel with the grooves on the periphery of the wheel. The groove selected for a tube diameter is placeable in front of the blade by rotating the wheel to a corresponding position.
