Abstract (en)

The betting chart contains a start table with the teams or competitors involved, a placing column for forecasting the final placing, a final placing column for the finished placing result, and a column showing the difference between the forecast and final placings. After adding up the differences the winner is the one with the lowest final figure. The betting chart can be of paper or foil or as an electronic or digital chart. Independent claim describes method for creating charts by drawing up the columns as above.
