Abstract (en)

The package for food products comprises two plastic sheets (3,4) destined to contact opposing surfaces of the food products (2); the sheets (3,4) being welded to one another, the package being made into a roll (11). The plastic sheet (4) which constitutes the external surface of the package when rolled is provided with a covering of two strips of paper (7), which afford between them a rectangular opening so that the food can be inspected when inside the package.
