Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2005092562A1] The invention relates to a solder film for soldering parts, particularly plates of heat exchangers. To this end, the solder foil has a defined contour adapted to the parts to be soldered. According to the invention, the solder foil (12) can be produced as a part of a strip (11) of individual foils (12) connected to one another by material bridges (13).
