Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1736605A2] In the construction of a condominium balcony, the balcony floor is defined by a frame (2) open towards the building face but closed on the other three sides (3, 4a, 4b). The three frame sides terminate at the top in an upper edge (5) that defines a plane that is horizontal with respect to the horizontal. Further claimed is commensurate balcony architectural ironwork.
