Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1739020A1] The package has a flap (9) associated to a corresponding lateral wall and separated by a slit (10), extending until to an articulation line or the associated wall, in order to adhere the flap against the associated wall. The slit laterally overlaps with contiguous sachets (8) that are made of a flexible material with the height equal to a rear wall (4). The lateral walls are parallel with each other and perpendicular to a rectangular base (2) and a front wall (3), where the rear wall is parallel to the front wall.
