Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006000424A1] The invention relates to a method for applying a film label (5) to an object (10), wherein glue is at least partially applied to a first side, being the label's back surface when applied to the object. The first side of the label (5) is then applied to the object (10). A liquid film is at least partially applied between the first side and the object.
