Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1743612A2] The wheel chair has a seat which is supported in a frame, where the seat has a seat part (5) and a backrest part. The backrest part and the seat part are freely and tiltably connected with one another. The ends of the seat part turned from the backrest part, are adjustable relative to the frame. A support (28) is connected with the frame, where the ends of the seat part turned from the rear wall part, loosely rest on the support.
