Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2005115767A1] The invention relates to a valuable or security document in the form of a book, comprising at least two sheets, wherein the two sheets are fixed to one another by means of a seam. A first part of a security document is arranged above and/or inside the seam and a second part of the security document is arranged above at least one part and/or inside part of the adjacent area of the sheet that is arranged immediately inside the seam. The security information stems from the first and second part of the security document. The invention also relates to a method for the production of said valuable and security document.
