Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1752061A1] The applicator has a rod and an application surface made of a relatively soft material and which extends obliquely to the longitudinal axis of the rod. The surface is formed by several cones (24) arranged parallel to each other. The application surface (20) is formed on an applicator front part (17) made of a soft material extending over a retention element (16) made of a comparatively hard synthetic material. The retention element is inserted in a cavity of the rod (12'), and the outer contour of the applicator front part and of the rod transitions into each other without gradation. An independent claim is included for a cosmetic device.
