Abstract (en)
The device has an armature, a fixed plate (1) and a sliding and locking plate (3). A rotating plate (2) maintained by the device receives either a circular saw or jigsaw (13). A plate (4) is slid at the place of the plate (3), where the plate (4) maintains a plane or a belt sander. A small extension (14) in the right side of the device slides in the bench, where the extension is adapted either to the direction of width or to the direction of length. The extension has six holes to fix a sliding drill, a chainsaw in metals or other material to the device by screwing.
