Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2005122337A1] The invention relates to a press-in contact (1) and to a method for the production thereof. The press-in contact (1) comprises a contact body (3) and two individual limbs (4) which are embodied therewith and which are separated by a separating surface which is produced by means of non-cutting processing, and which expand inside a press-in area (6) and which are arranged at a distance in relation to each other. A tip (7) connected to the press-in area (6) which is formed by the free ends of the limbs (4) which extend into each other, is also provided.
