Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2005123001A1] The invention concerns a medical fluid bag arrangement comprising a fluid bag. The fluid bag has at least a first (11) and a second (12) compartment. The first compartment (11) contains a first fluid and the second compartment (12) contains a different second fluid. At least the second fluid has such a composition that it runs the risk of being degraded if the second fluid receives too much energy during sterilisation. The fluid bag arrangement comprises a special cover (31, 37) which is arranged over at least one side of the second compartment (12), but which is not arranged around the whole fluid bag. The special cover (31, 37) is positioned such that the risk that the second compartment (12) receives too much energy during sterilisation is reduced. The invention also concerns a method of providing, arranging and treating medical fluids.
