Abstract (en)

The support, for trousers waistbands, has a symmetrical support frame (31) and padding (33) rotating around a vertical axis (30) matching the lower part of the stomach. Its vertical dimensions match the gap between the throat between the lower stomach and the pubic bone and the selected waistband zone (11). The frame has a support body (32) at its lower edge and the projections at shoulders (34) on both sides of the vertical axis are at a gap from the upper frame edge. A holder (36) with shoulders (37), for an elastic belt (4), is at the frame between the support body and the frame shoulders.
