Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006002733A1] The invention relates to a method for producing decorative coatings on the surface of panel-like material pieces, during which an adhesive or coating compound is applied to the panel-like material pieces (2), whereby filler particles (4) are embedded in this compound, optionally followed by a subsequent treatment of the coatings produced in this manner. The panel-like materials provided with a decorative coating in the aforementioned manner are for use, in particular, as floor coverings, floor panels, wall or façade elements or as furniture elements.
