Abstract (en)

The device has profile strips with a projection that intervenes into grooves during the application of a construction set. The profile strips exhibits a continuous bore hole extending in a direction of a longitudinal axis, and attached to terrace slabs adjacent to longitudinal or a cross joint, where a traction unit is guided into the hole. The end of the traction unit is connected with a tension anchor (10) and a tensioning device (11) so that the terrace slabs arranged along the traction unit are deformed together during manufacturing of the terrace. Independent claims are also included for the following: (1) a terrace constructed by using a terrace construction set (2) a method for constructing a terrace.
