Abstract (en)

The invention relates to a slicing device (1) for slicing at least one article in one slicing operation comprising a pushing frame (2) that is connected to a support frame (3), whereby said pushing frame (2) comprises two vertically extending guiding bars (4) which are suitable for attaching an article pushing member (7) and which are connectable to a first driving unit (5), said first driving unit (5) being suitable for driving the article pushing member (7) in a vertical direction (23) up and downwards along said guiding bars (4), and whereby said support frame (3) comprises a horizontally extending frame that is connected with the guiding bars (4) of the pushing frame (2) and suitable for receiving a cutting blade unit (8) having two cutting blade frames (15,16) In a horizontal plane, said support frame (3) being connectable to a second driving unit (6) for driving the cutting blade frames (15,16) of the cutting blade unit (8) in a horizontal direction (24) back and forwards in said support frame (3).
