Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006005911A1] A package (1) in which a folded information bearing leaflet (6) is positioned on an inside face of the package and is retained by means of a superimposed label (7) or other glued sheet material. The face (2) of the package adjacent to the leaflet is perforated so that it may be torn back to reveal the leaflet when the package is opened. When this has taken place the contents are protected and the package reinforced by the label which remains in position attached to the inside of the package.
