Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006006007A2] A seal for a camera lens incorporated into an electronic device has an adhesive on an underside of the seal, which adhesive is used for sticking the seal to the electronic device. The seal has a camera lens portion which will be located adjacent the camera lens in use and wherein the camera lens portion has no adhesive or has a cover placed over the adhesive so that the adhesive does not get on to the camera lens when in use.
