Abstract (en)

The applicator consists of a moulded plastic core (4) with a series of supple radiating teeth (14, 15, 16, 17) in lengthwise rows. The teeth, which have a polygonal and preferably rectangular cross-section, are grouped in pairs (140, 150) with gaps (11) between them to hold a volume of the product to be applied. The gaps between the teeth in each pair broaden to 0.4 mm towards the tips of the teeth, and there are larger gaps of some 0.8 mm between the pairs.
