Abstract (en)

The method involves swivelably connecting superimposed even edges of individual boards (10,12,14,16) with each other through the application of elastic adhesive or adhesive film. Three of the individual boards are assembled in a stack, and the elastic adhesive or the adhesive film is applied on a side surface (18) of the stack, where the side surface is formed by the straight edges. A separating line (20) is provided between the neighboring boards.
