Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1772238A1] Device for finishing metal edges (B) fitted to wood panels (P), comprising a surface finishing tool able to treat at least one milled zone of the metal edge. The tool consists of an idle roller (6) with an external incision surface able to rotate in contact with the zone of the edge so as to impress on it a mark when the panel is displaced with a relative movement with respect to the device in a feeding direction.
