Abstract (en)

[origin: GB2416731A] A device for wheeling or carrying one or more sheet-material articles, the device comprising a flexible carrying strap 10 extending between two support units 20, which are interconnected by a strut 30 forming a rigid unit which can be folded together, bringing the two support units 20 of the device together. The strut 30 may be telescope. The support units 20 may include wheels 24 enabling the device to be wheeled over the ground. The strap 10 may have means for adjusting its effective length. A support member in each support unit 20 may comprise a channel-shaped member 26 into which the lower edge of the sheet-material article can be engaged.
