Abstract (en)
The bag has a base (2) extending from its circumferential side walls for formation of an internal space in a perpendicular direction, where the base includes a rectangular section (3). A projecting section (4) is formed on one side of the base, where the section (4) is foldable on the base section for a storage position of the bag. A side edge (9) connects between two side wall sections at a point of the section (4).
