Abstract (en)

[origin: MX2007000211A] A corneal-pocket keratome and a method of cutting a corneal pocket. The keratome support assembly has a support made from a single piece and has a guide at forward position that has a transition surface and a well. A blade is mounted on the assembly with a blade edge that is concentrically spaced from the well to establish a predetermined space measure rearward and below the well.
