Abstract (en)
[origin: US2008310769A1] A security bag for transporting valuables, in particular, banknotes, comprises an access opening to an inner area of the security bag and a closing device for closing the access opening. The security bag is permeable to air and liquid in a first area and consists of a plastic foil in a second area, wherein the access opening and the closing device are formed in the plastic foil. The air- and liquid-permeable first area is thereby formed by a non-woven or woven plastic material.
