Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006004410A1] The invention relates to a device for moving objects such as beds, operation tables, carts and pallets. The device comprises a removable operation unit that is fixed, on the object that is to be moved and is locked in this position by simply moving a slide member. This state of operation allows for the use of a single hand for using the operation unit as well as for driving and/or steering the object that is to be moved.
