Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1783317A2] The unit has a fastening clip (10) that is provided for a supporting profile (16), where the fastening clip exhibits a contact surface (12) and retaining plates. The retaining plates are arranged opposite to each other at both sides of the contact surface. One of the retaining plates is flexibly connected with the contact surface using a seam (18), which is arranged in a recess that is provided at an upper side of the supporting profile. Both the retaining plates are movably arranged against the contact surface in a direction of the supporting profile.
