Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006021576A1] The invention relates to a brush holder (24), preferably for a brush (22). Said holder comprises at least one retaining element (94), in which at least one brush (22) is held in a displaceable manner and a support (96), which carries the retaining element or elements (94) and fixes the brush holder (24) to the electric machine (10). The shape of the brush holder (24) is essentially a circular segment, thus permitting the construction of motors with different poles using only one type of brush holder.
