Abstract (en)
A collapsible stand (10, 70) includes a platform (20, 73) for supporting a machine, two first legs (30, 71) each having a top end pivotally connected to the platform (20, 73), two second legs (40, 72a) each of which is pivotally connected to each first leg (30, 71) and has a top part slidably inserted through a sleeve (28) of the platform (20, 73), at least one springy member (42) and a locking device (50, 74). The springy member (42) is sleeved onto one of the second legs (40, 72a). The locking device (50, 74) is connected to the platform (20, 73) for fixing the second legs (40, 72a) after spreading the stand (10, 70) such that the first legs (30, 71) and second legs (40, 72a) support the platform (20, 73) at a predetermined height.
