Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1787884A1] The cabin has a base tub that is formed with a circular edge section by a support plate (11), which is connected with a vehicle floor. The edge section has an integral connecting unit for positively retaining wall units (12 - 17). The support plate is attached to a door slide rail, and the spatially formed arrangement of the support plate and the wall units is selected according to the space ratio of the vehicle.
