Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1790398A1] The part (1) has U-shaped branches (2) elastically deformed to clasp skis during locking. One of the branches includes an end that is curved towards an exterior to delimit open gutters (4) along a direction parallel to a U-shaped base (3) or in the direction of the base. The gutters form housings to receive respective poles, and the branches are arranged to converge in the direction of the gutters. The gutters include an inner side that is covered with an anti-skidding material.
