Abstract (en)

[origin: US2007101881A1] The printing press for producing newspapers includes several unwinders from which coldset webs can be unreeled, coldset printing couples for printing the coldset webs with coldset inks, coldset formers and a coldset folder for processing the coldset webs into longitudinally and transversely folded coldset signatures. The printing press also includes an additional unwinder from which a heatset web can be unreeled, heatset printing couples for printing the heatset web with heatset inks, a dryer for drying the printed heatset web, a heatset former and a heatset folder for processing the heatset web into a longitudinally and transversely folded heatset signature. Finally, a processing device processes the heatset signature into a magazine.
