Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1795317A2] A razor for hair cut capable of easily and rapidly performing various types of hair cutting operations and finely finishing the hair cut. Cutters having edges are fitted to the base body of the razor for hair cut in an upright state so that the edges are positioned in a direction perpendicular to the upright direction of the cutters. Also, the razor for hair cut is formed integrally with the bristle part of a hairbrush so that brushing and cutting operations can be performed simultaneously. Thus, a desirable hairstyle can be easily formed.
