Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1798192A1] Protruding inwards from the inner wall of a retaining opening (4) and aligned offset radially with reference to a vertical axis, a gripper (19) made of springy material in the shape of a blade has a straight free edge (21). A surface of the gripper maintains extended contact with a main body (3), i.e. the inner wall of the main body, in the area of its area protruding from the inner wall.
