Abstract (en)
[origin: US2006080794A1] A toothbrush is provided. The toothbrush has a handle and a head attached to the handle. The head has a free end most distal from the handle and opposed side edges. A first group of bristle tufts are disposed adjacent the free end of the head. The first group of bristle tufts have bristles that include a slip agent. A second group of bristle tufts are disposed along the interior of the head. The second group of bristle tufts include textured bristles. A third group of bristle tufts are disposed adjacent the side edges of the head. The third group of bristle tufts include non-textured bristles.
