Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006031579A1] A carton for one or more articles (BT), the carton being formed from a single blank of foldable sheet material having a series of panels joined along fold lines so as to form, when assembled, a top panel (114), bottom panel (118), first and second side wall panels (116, 120) and first and second end wall panels (122, 124) together forming a hollow structure with closed ends, the carton being characterised in that the top panel (114) comprises at least one aperture (130) for receiving an article, at least one of the end wall panels having a tab or locking head (134) extending from an edge thereof, the tab being received in one of said apertures and held in that aperture by the article received therein, thereby to hold the end wall panel in the assembled position.
