[origin: WO2006065222A1] A device and a method for removing binding wires (3) from bales (4) of waste products. A base supports a bale and a cutting device (15) cuts the wires and the wires are removed from the bale by a device that takes up and removes the wires. The device that takes up and removes the wires has lifting devices (20, 21) that can be inserted into the material of the bale with a driving mechanism (22) that gives the lifting devices a penetrating movement into the bale inside the wires, and also a lifting movement for lifting the wires from the bale.
