Abstract (en)
The present invention refers to a drinks dispenser comprising a containment case (14), wherein at least one chamber (18) is defined in communication with the outside through a first opening (17) equipped with respective cover (16) and a second drink-supply opening (19). The chamber (18) is intended to house a substantially bag-like vessel (12) containing a pre-selected drink and equipped with supply valve and the drink-supply opening (19) of the case (14) is associated with the supply valve (15). A connection member (20) that is separately manoeuvrable is interposed between the case (14) and the supply valve of the bag-like vessel (12) for a removable locking of the supply valve (15) on the case (14).
