Abstract (en)
[origin: FR2880112A1] The scale has a weight receiving plate (2) supported by a weighing base with four bases, where each base closes a weight sensor. The plate has LEDs (6-9) controlled by a control circuit based on signal corresponding to weight difference between current measurement and value already stored in memory. A luminous zone (3) is situated in central part of the plate and extended for exceeding length and/or width of feet of a user.
