Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1830006A1] The machine has an upper carriage (20), and a pole (40) that is swivellably arranged at the upper carriage. The pole is swivellable from a perpendicular operating position to a horizontal transportation position. A drive unit (50) is adjustably arranged along a pole guide and is positionable in an area of a pole base (42) in a deviatable resting position. The drive unit is partially detached from the pole guide and is deviated to the pole. An independent claim is also included for a method of providing a transportation condition for a construction work machine.
