Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006069701A1] The invention relates to fungicidal mixtures containing, as active constituents: 1) the strobilurin derivative of formula I, and; 2) at least one active substance II selected from the group of azoles in a synergistically active amount. The invention also relates to methods for controlling pathogenic fungi with mixtures of compound I with active substances II, and to the use of compound I together with active substances II for producing mixtures of the aforementioned type and to agents containing these mixtures.
