Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2006075093A1] The invention relates to a device for housing and transporting at least one carton (3), containing a food product, such as ice cream, comprising a thermally-insulated chamber (1) and an insulated lid (9). Said device comprises means for retaining said carton within a housing (2) provided in said insulated chamber when a user removes product from said carton and essentially flat means for contact with a hand or fingers of said user, arranged on the upper part of said device.
