Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006040751A1] A computer-implemented method and system for providing feedback during sex play using a sensor worn on a user's body part to input motion-dependent signals to a computer during free motion of the body part. A computer accesses a plurality of computer-accessible erotic movie sequences and displays on a display device connected to the computer successive ones of the erotic movie-sequences in accordance with the motion-dependent signals.
