Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1843226A1] The device has an indication (7) carried by a rotary disc (8) that is arranged under a dial (1) of a timepiece. The timepiece has an opening (6) for permitting to make selective and successive appearance of the indication, where the indication is made of a fluorescent substance. A surface of the dial is located immediately near the opening and has a translucent zone (1a) for permitting to subject the substance to radiation of the light before the appearance of the indication through the opening, where the zone is made of flat polished sapphire.
