Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1847190A1] The disposable operating gown (7) for protection against liquids or microorganisms comprises a main section (1) with an outer side (11), which has a first section (12), and at least one second section (13) which has a material section (14) which absorbs aqueous liquids. The area of the first section is larger especially by 1200 per cent than the area of the second section. An independent claim is included for a use of a disposable operating gown for cleaning the hands of aqueous liquids, especially body fluids, especially blood.
