Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1847201A2] The device for presentation of goods and objects, with at least one vertical presentation surface (10), has main presentation surfaces (12) orientated radially or at least basically radially with regard to an enveloping contour of the device. The main presentation surfaces extend from a central pillar (14), the outer surface of which functions at least in sections as an additional presentation surface (16). A drive is provided for rotating the device and means of rotation are provided for rotatable bearing of the device.
