Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1847473A1] A container cover has an overlapping section (4), which overlaps an edge section (5) on a top edge of a drip pan (2). The overlapping section and the edge section interconnect by means of a locking connection and have an identical vertical height (h). The overlapping section is a section of the container's cover. The edge section is a section of the drip pan. An independent claim is also included for a method for producing a double-walled container.
