Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1857602A2] The device has an anchoring bolt (5) projecting into a concrete column (1) e.g. concrete pile. The column is fastened to a foundation (2) e.g. concrete foundation, which has a foundation shoe, where the shoe has an anchoring bar (12), which projects into the foundation. The shoe is connectable with the bolt, and has a borehole (13) for retaining the bolt, where the bolt is screwable with the shoe. A gap (20) is provided between a lower side of the column and an upper side of the foundation, where the foundation has a larger horizontal extension.
