Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2006100231A1] The invention relates to a two-step method for producing polyesterols, comprising the following steps: a) production of at least one base polyesterol by reacting at least one dicarboxylic acid with at least one polyhydroxyl compound, b) reaction of the base polyesterol from step a) or a mixture of the base polyesterols from step a) with at least one enzyme and optionally also polyhydroxyl compounds. The invention also relates to a polyesterol that is produced according to said method.
